Artist in Residency

What: This residency provides five Native artists, musicians, writers, or culture bearers a one-month residency session, to have studio space where they can work on proposed projects and goals for their art, while providing housing and access to independent art and artifact research. Artists in Residence will share their experience with the public by demonstration, discussion, workshops, lecture, and or other means in THE NATIVE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL AND CULTURAL CENTER® (NAECC) from May through September. Artists must submit a proposal with their application, describing the project they intend to work on during their Residency and include information on the ideas or techniques they will explore, as well as a projected timeline for completion.

Who: We are looking for high quality Native artists, storytellers, musicians, writers, and culture bearers who are committed to showcasing their arts and sharing their culture with our international audience. We expect and encourage artists to showcase and to explain the process and reason for their creation, and to interact with the public during their creative processes.

When: There are five (5) sessions for the summer season beginning on the first day of each month and ending on the last day of each month. The artist must submit a proposed schedule to the Cultural Programs Manager with this application, in order to effectively promote their presence. The artist is required to be present at the Museum a minimum of 120 hours for the month. This could include working in their studio, talking and selling to visitors, and giving weekly artist talks. Artists in Residence are also encouraged to conduct research in the Crazy Horse Memorial Museum collections and in the research library, as part of their residency.

Where: The artist will set up in the NAECC Artist in Residence studio at Crazy Horse Memorial Custer, SD. The studio includes two 4 ft. or 8 ft. tables, two folding chairs, basic electrical hook-ups, a window, and modular panels with display lighting. Artist may provide their own floor covering, table coverings, and display racks to fit the allotted space. Additional work tables, lights, and power tools may be furnished by the artist to meet their production needs. Space is also available to work on the outdoor Covered Patio at the NAECC.

Stipend: Residency includes a stipend of $3,000, plus lodging, breakfast at the hotel, free lunch each day at the Laughing Water Restaurant, and free studio space.

Requirements & Policies: Artists in Residence will be required to conduct a weekly public lecture or educational workshop during their residency on Wednesdays at 12:30 and maintain an open studio where visitors can watch them work and talk about their culture. Artists are allowed/encouraged to sell their original artwork to visitors and guests, but the focus of the programs is their work and research. All items for sale must have a tag of authenticity with artist's name, tribe, date completed, and list of materials used. Artists may be asked to talk to the press, donors, or others at events.

Cancellations: Accepted artists must notify the Cultural Programs Manager on or before Feb. 18, 2022, if they are unable to participate. Late cancellation or failure to appear for or finish the residency as agreed, could disqualify an artist from acceptance to future programs for 2 years.

Describe your type of art, as well as what techniques you will be demonstrating, and cultural knowledge you will be sharing:

Proposal: Artist is REQUIRED to submit a 1-2 page proposal of projects they intend to work on, as well as three (3) images illustrating work that will be demonstrated and sold from their studio. Images must be high-resolution jpegs sent with application by email.
